

PTPN11

Comparative domain architecture · native amino-acid coordinates

Which representative domain instances and membrane segments does each primary protein carry, and do they occupy comparable positions?

Native coordinates are species-specific; the MSA-aligned panel shows the same instances on a common alignment axis.