

PTPN11

Comparative isoform diversity · annotated protein models per species

How many protein models does each species have, how are they curated, how much do their lengths vary, and how many exploratory candidates were derived from them?

Model counts are annotation counts, not validated splice products. Exploratory candidates are intervals proposed from within-species isoform comparison and are not validated events.